

And when I die...

A Personal Statement of Wishes and Desires

What will become of your personal life's work? Your assemblage of collectible mementoes acquired throughout your life that you cherished so proudly. Will your heirs truly appreciate the significance or are these your memories of a time passed? Historically the surviving chosen family and friends won't have the same attachment as you experienced as a passionate hobbyist. Nor do they possess the same knowledge or trusted contacts that you have gathered and discerned. Will they receive the proper value or be taken advantage of by their inexperience?

Should they retain the entire collection? leak out portions gradually? sell direct? consign through auction? donate for tax reasons? Will they discard it altogether not recognizing its historical significance...or even its true monetary value? Perhaps they will attempt to clean or alter a precious artifact before realizing their actions have permanently damaged and devalued the item. The horror stories are all too familiar. Now is the time to take precautionary measures.

James Spence Authentication is an unbiased third party service company. We are not in the business to buy and sell therefore removing any conflict of interest. Rather we confide, discuss options and speak honestly about the given circumstances regardless of the size of the collection.

Already included in dozens of last wills and testaments, James Spence recognizes the need for a professional counseling. This has become apparent as our hobby appreciates, matures and evolves. James Spence, a longtime industry leader as a collector, former dealer, and now trusted authenticator, is offering his services through And when I die... This is an uncomplicated statement of intent that can be prominently placed in the forefront of your collection. Simply sign the form and send a copy to the offices of James Spence Authentication, L.L.C. Your best interests will be protected by a proven company that cares.

A personal statement of wishes and desires

It is my sincere intent that in the unfortunate case of my death or incapacitation that I recommend James Spence Authentication (JSA), LLC as the best choice in the advisement of disposing of my beloved memorabilia collection. JSA has a combined understanding of autograph authentication, memorabilia appraisal services and proper market placement as a legitimate means of serving my heirs fairly. The approved company is known for their knowledge, integrity and fine work ethic. It is my existing wishes and desires for JSA to be contacted for consultation when the time is appropriate.

Sincerely,
